PRINCETON SENIORS OBSERVE CLASS DAY

President Hibben Hands Over Campus Key.

Special to THE SUN AND NEW YORK HERALD. PRINCETON, June 14.—The class of 1920 of Princeton University started its mmencement programme this morning with the opening exercises of class day in Alexander Hall. J. K. Strubing of Philadelphia acted as master of cere-monies. R. F. Purdy delivered the oration and H. B. Blauvelt read the class poem. President John Grier Hibben of the university, according to the old custom, handed the campus key over to the president of the graduating class. John Marshall Harlan of Washington, grandson of former Justice Harlan of the United States Supreme Court.

At 3:30 the senior class, wearing caps and gowns, marched to the Revolutionary War cannon in the centre of the middle campus, which has been marked with the class numerals, and held the cannon exercises. C. A. Brandon made the presentation speech with little gifts to the members of the class, and J. F Fennelly read the class history. E. H. Coffey delivered the class prophecy. The posed by H. B. 'CIVILIAN CLOTHES" RETURNS.

Oliver Morosco tried the unusual ex night of bringing back, with several im-portant changes in cast, a play that was successful here earlier in the same sea son. It was "Civilian Clothes," The son Buchanan's comedy, seen last fall at the same house. In place of Thurston Hall as Sam McGinnis, William Courtenay played the role. He is one of the courtliest lovers on the stage, and it required all his art to play the uncouth ex-army captain, who returns from France, where his martial attainments and giamor have bedazzled a young woman of fashion into marrying him, and finds that his young wife is repelled by his ill-bred demeanor in civilian life. But when acting the smooth and polished butler in the second act-the position which McGinnis takes in order, as he says, to acquire a society veneer from the servants—Mr. Courtenay appeared to be more at ease, and here his comedy was delightful. All in all, he gave a varied and diverting performance.

SCRUBWOMEN IN VAUDEVILLE ACT

Harry Fox Has New Sketch at the Palace.

The secret about those mysterious girls who were to assist Harry Fox in his new vaudeville act came out at the Palace yesterday. While the jaunty Harry was singing a little ditty about how he liked to let the girls flirt with him, out came the girls—and they proved to be five scrubwomen—the regular kind, with palls and mops and gray hair and everything. Certainly that part of his act seemed to earn less laughter and applause than the rest of his antics Perhaps the sight of these elderly women caused a number of the audi-Geddes have gone to Princeton to at-tend commencement exercises at the university, where the Ambassador will to be lickled when Fox sang Mason and Dixon ballads and sentimental songs with Miss Beatrice Curtis, and he was just as smilingly deft as ever and as full of aplomb as he could be

PEACE PATRIOTISM IS URGED BY HUGHES

Sacrifices of War Must Not Be in Vain, He Says at Wellesley Exercises.

WELLESLEY, Mass., June 14 .- Charles He bequeathed $1000,000 to the New E. Hughes, in an address at the Welles-Tork East Conference of the Methodist ley College commencement exercises to-Episcopal Church in memory of his day, cautioned his hearers that in an appreciation of the difficulties which have accompanied the period after the war "we must avoid a distorted view and we must not fall to realize that the great heart of the nation has not changed in Patriotism of Peace."

He contrasted the unified effort of war time with "the absence of a compelling motive" and "the rush of com-peting interests" that have followed. "Unless we have in peace time, said, "that dominant sentiment which prompts a continuous and self-sacrific-ing devotion to public ends, the sacrifices of patriotism in war will have been in vain. Our national ideals are neithe mperialistic nor racial. They transcend all ordinary national aims; they are not bound up in anything short of establishing and maintaining constitutional gov ernment as the sure base of liberty.
